

Rik Irons-Mclean

Chief Technology Officer, Enterprise Commercial, Microsoft Australia & New Zealand

Rik is a future-focused technology leader, with extensive experience driving digital transformation and innovation. Currently serving as the Chief Technology Officer at Microsoft, he has held multiple worldwide roles in energy, manufacturing and resources, sustainability, IoT, security, and digital transformation in global technology companies.

Rik has spoken at conferences around the world, is a published book author, and authored a number of industry white papers, journal and magazine articles.

He has been a member of multiple industry boards and standards groups in energy, manufacturing, sustainability, IoT, digital twins and digital skills, and is currently part of the Climate Leaders Coalition, and the Sustainability Tech Council, in Australia.

Rik has an MBA focused on international leadership, holds the MIEMA and CEnv sustainability accreditations, and is a Gartner Peer Ambassador.

<https://uk.linkedin.com/in/rikironsmclean>